I felt this revision was successful, as students actively participated in building a community health project for their own communities. The student responses to the Student Learning Outcome (SLO) Survey, administered by the Nursing Department indicate students felt all outcomes were met: 67-73% of students strongly agreed that all 6 outcomes were met for the course, with 3% of students reporting they agreed. No students reported they disagreed or strongly disagreed regarding meeting the six SLO's for the course. The following student comments were made on the department survey:

1) This class really showed me how important the community is and how to evaluate an entire population including diverse groups.
2) This class challenged me to learn a whole new way of nursing. I now have more confidence about what kind of nurse I could be beyond the hospital setting.

The only changes to the course are to clarify the instructions for the three level primary prevention/intervention plan and include examples for students of completed assignments (from previous courses – with student identifiers removed). This helps the students understand clearly what is expected of them as they design their projects.
